Timothy A. Wise, author

Eating Tomorrow: Agribusiness, Family Farmers, and the Battle for the Future of Food
The New Press (Feb. 2019)

Timothy A. Wise is a senior researcher at the Small Planet Institute, where he directs the Land and Food Rights Program. He is also a senior research fellow at Tufts University’s Global Development and Environment Institute, where he founded and directed its Globalization and Sustainable Development Program. He previously served as executive director of the U.S.-based aid agency Grassroots International. He is the author of Eating Tomorrow: Agribusiness, Family Farmers, and the Battle for the Future of Food (The New Press) and Confronting Globalization: Economic Integration and Popular Resistance in Mexico. He lives in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Twitter: @TimothyAWise
Instagram: @TimothyAWise
Email: tim.wise@tufts.edu
Speaking invitations: info@smallplanet.org subject line: SPEAKER
To order: https://www.smallplanet.org/eating-tomorrow